Discussion and Decisions

As a part of NEP preparedness, IQAC members felt a need to discuss pros & cons of Academic Autonomous status of the college with all stake-holders. Separate meeting with staff, management and visits to colleges having autonomous status was planned in the new academic year.

After two years of online and hybrid education, 2022-23 was expected to be a year with total learning experience on campus. Planning of academic and cultural activities was done for the next academic year. FDP, staff training programs, academic & cultural programs for students were also discussed and planned.

Recruitment process was halted by government because of Covid. Considering the current situation of Covid cases, college should write to the government requesting to initiate the recruitment process again. Two teaching post and 5 administrative post are vacant in the college. Getting government appointed staff would not only help to reduce financial burden of the college but also help in improving academic and administrative activities of the college.
